GENERAL MEETINGS HELD
3RD WEDNESDAY
OF EACH MONTH

THAT'S NOT SO COLD

Join us for a special presentation on diving in the U.S. Pacific North West by former Flipper Dipper Craig Linburgh. Craig relocated to Washington State some years back and has been actively diving in the Puget Sound area out of Anacortes, WA.

Learn about some local dive operations and such signature dive sites as Long Island Wall, Black Rock, and Eagle Point, which provide great photo opportunities! If there is sufficient interest, Craig is also interested in setting a Dipper dive trip in the area. Join Craig and other Dippers for dinner at 6:30 at the Chinese restaurant, next door to the Knight's of Columbus. Don't miss this Meeting! ★

Thanks to our 2016 Club Officers!

Awards Banquet Review

January's Annual Awards Banquet was an entertaining and enjoyable evening for over 30 Flipper Dippers, family and friends who attended. Michaels At Shoreline, in Mountain View, provided a great room of spacious tables, an open bar and plenty of tasty hors d'oeuvres for everyone in attendance. During the social hour, Dippers and guests were able to view the photo competition entries and a special photo collage of Charter Member Bill Zschaler who passed away last year.

At the start of the dinner Club president Barbara Davis welcomed everyone and acknowledged the many strengths of the membership, their contributions towards the success of the Club and supporting the new Board in 2017.

After dinner there was a break and opportunity for everyone to vote on the photo competition entries. The winners will be announced at the February general meeting. The banquet continued with Larry Ankuda presenting the 2016 Spearfishing Trophy winner with an Award: a $50 bill to go towards a 2017 fishing license to John Snyder for a 8.8-inch abalone taken at Van Damme. There were no other trophy winners for 2016, so maybe it's your turn in 2017?

Our guest Master of Ceremonies was then introduced by Awards & Fines Chair John Schwartz, "Our guest has external sensory hair. A touch of the hair triggers a cell explosion, which launches a harpoon-like structure that attaches to the organism that triggered it, and

Refreshments Are Being Served

The following Dippers are asked to bring a tasty goodie to the next General Meeting: Mike Chalup, Grace Chi, Dale Darnell, Barbara & Greg Davis, Dave Dickson, and Anton Dold. Don't forget you will receive a FREE raffle ticket for your donation! ★

PRESIDENT'S CORNER

We had a good start to our year with many club activities in January, including the annual Awards Banquet at Michaels at Shoreline, a Monterey boat dive, a chance for members to catch up and socialize at the monthly General meeting, and the annual planning meeting.

The Awards Banquet on January 22nd was enjoyed by all who attended. We had good food, good friends, and, of course, an entertaining presenter for the evening! In addition to presenting awards to the trophy winners, the Awards Banquet provides an opportunity to acknowledge all those Club members – and non-members – who helped out during the past year. Everyone's efforts are greatly appreciated!

Seven Dippers had a great time on the BeachHopperII for our first S3 dive of the year. Conditions were surprisingly good considering all of the storms and rain we got in January. (And the following weekend saw record swells in Monterey!) We'll need to continue to keep a close eye on the marine forecasts, but as we experienced, winter diving can be great between storms.

We had our annual planning meeting on January 25th at Steve Lodoen's house. Steve and his wife Bonnie are very gracious to open their home every year for this important meeting. Thanks to Steve and all those who attended and helped plan the events for this coming year.

One committee chair I would really like to see filled this year is Safety. The Dippers have a long-standing tradition of safe diving, and we'd like that to continue. Let me know if you would be interested in getting involved in this important role.

The board has been brainstorming new ideas and new activities for 2017 and we want to hear from YOU! You can email your ideas to me or any of the club officers, put them into the "Suggestion Bag" at any meeting, or come to any business meeting. Let us know what needs to change and what club traditions we need to continue!

Everyone keep safe and let's go diving! – Barbara

Diver's I.Q. Review Corner

This Month's Question: Objects underwater appear to be:

- A. Brighter and larger
- B. Smaller and farther
- C. Darker and smaller
- D. Larger and closer

Send your answer by e-mail to Larry Ankuda at lankuda@comcast.net. All attendees at the next general meeting with the correct answers will be included in a drawing for 10 free raffle tickets. Good Luck!

RAFFLE NEWS

Lance Williams

The Dippers got off to a good New Year raffle, in January, with great prizes. First off, the Raffle Table was all set for all the gifts. Scott Schimberg placed a bottle of Kendall Jackson Cabernet on the table and the winner was new member Dave Dickson, L.O.R.D. Larry Ankuda harvested a couple of bags of mushrooms for the club. One bag went left to Barbara Davis and one bag went right to visitor Coy Jett. Next was a 'Brain Game' from Kathy Williams grabbed by John 'Hot-Dog' Schwartz. Teresa Hanson brought in two items; a set of four wine glasses chosen by Barbara Davis, and a scrub kit picked by Manuel Mangrobang. The fish cutting board mysteriously returned and was rewarded to the winning ticket held by Dave Dickson. A reusable fish-style bottle donated by Helen Conway was taken by Coy Jett, and a pair of handmade diver-theme oven hot pads, also donated by Helen, were grabbed by Jackie Gardner. The XL dive shirt was won by Tom Gardner and Scott Schimberg picked up the fish scale and fish ruler. The final gift on the table was a Ocean Kayak ball cap won by Barbara Davis, who thought her father could use it.

THE DOOR PRIZE The $40 door prize was up for grabs and Tony Alarcon's name was drawn – but he was not at the meeting. So it's now $50 for our February general meeting.

THIS MONTH'S RAFFLE: Each month we pick names from the Club's Roster for members to bring a donation for the Raffle Table. So this month the following folks are asked to bring a dive-related gift: Hunter Reid, Gerry Richards, Steve Richards, Michelle Schimberg, Scott Schimberg and John Schwartz. If you live out of the area or can't attend the General Meeting, please contact

Lance Williams, 1-650-321-5255, Willo1044@yahoo.com, to send in a check. He will pick up a raffle donation in your name. The raffle has always been an important part of our General Meetings. Please do your part as a Club member and provide a raffle donation when your name comes up. Thank you! ★

There are prospective members looking to dive and we look forward to diving with you! Prospectives must have a Club jacket either in possession or on order to be voted into the Club. See the Club's Website (Membership Requirements) for information and where to purchase. Contact Teresa for additional information on any and all Membership Requirements.

Congratulations to Dave Dickson, above left, who was voted into the Club at the January General Meeting. And welcome to Coy Jett who found us on Facebook and introduced himself at our January General Meeting. Coy is excited to get in the water, so be sure to join him on our Club dives!

A FREE raffle ticket will be given to the following Dipper who has a birthday this month: Mike Chalup, Anton Dold and Jan Robinson. Happy birthday to our fellow Flipper Dippers! ★

Lance Williams, left, was presented the Golden Dippy at the January General Meeting by John Schwartz. Apparently the giant taxidermy trout Lance won at the December meeting was hung on a tree to antagonize his next door neighbor. But alas, the rains came and destroyed it. Be careful with the pranks you play, they could backfire on you! ★

2017 TROPHY STANDINGS

Each month the person whose name appears in the newsletter will receive 3 FREE RAFFLE TICKETS at the General Meeting — if in attendance. If you hold a trophy several months in succession, you will receive 3 FREE tickets each month until someone beats your catch.

Contact John Snyder at +1-408-202-5196, e-mail: john.fishhunter@gmail.com, WITHIN 1 WEEK and give him all the proper info (include the name of one Club-member witness). ★ injects a dose of venom in the flesh of the aggressor or prey. Our guest is known to have a close, prolonged association between two or more different organisms of different species that may, but does not necessarily, benefit each member. Most recently, new genetic studies have found that this water-dwelling creature is technically half plant and half animal. So without further ado, let's all give a warm Flipper Dippers welcome to the one, and only, C. Anemone!"

Awards Banquet

Upon entering the banquet room, C. Anemone made a request; "Is there anyone here tonight that showed up yesterday – the wrong day?" Oops! Yep, Dennis Nasont sheepishly raised his hand. He and Bonnie arrived the night before and realized they made an error when they looked at their tickets with the day, Sunday, printed on them.

The evening continued with door prize drawings and the winners received DVDs, including Greg Davis who won "An all-expenses paid trip for two to enjoy the crystal-clear waters of Fiji: Two bottles of Fiji water!"

And then the fun began. "Tonight is going to be a gift-exchange activity. However, it's obvious that none of you have brought a gift to exchange. Not to worry, I did! But you don't get to pick this gift. No, this gift picks you and this gift is actually an 'Award.' Here's how it works: If you're lucky enough, you'll get the award. But then you must pass it on to the next lucky winner, that I will identify . . . until the last one gets to keep this amazing 'Award.'"

With that, C. Anemone announced, "This Year's Top Ten Golden Dippy Dippers." As the 'winners' were announced, the Club's Golden Dippy was passed along to the next winner – which went to one Dipper more than once!

10. Your 'Former Emperor and Dear Leader for Life' keeps trying to win the Miley Cyrus 'Ginormous Tongue' competition in your newsletter's photos. – Howard Timoney

9. You obviously need instructions on using a kelp-clip so your kayak doesn't float a quarter mile down the coast. Not once, but twice! – Jim Rezowalli

8. Up and early for another day of diving in Bonaire. And exactly where did you leave your regulator the day before? – Teresa Hanson

7. You built a new giant ticket drum for the raffle table. Just how big was that hamster you stole it from? – Greggie Davis

6. Lead, follow, or get out of the way. Yep, you led your fellow Dippers – to the wrong gate and almost missed your flight to Salt Lake City. – John Schwartz

5. You know you're in Bonaire but your 'Smart Phone' thinks you're in San Jose. Aren't you smarter than your Smart Phone? – Teresa Hanson

4. You know how to use a compass by looking at numbers, but you can't count stairsteps to find that new dive spot you read about in a book. – Larry Ankuda

3. Your checklist for dive gear is all in your head. So why weren't your fins in your kayak when you got to the dive spot at Pt. Lobos? – Carl Tuttle

2. You said you were on a business trip and couldn't get your newsletter article sent in. So why did we see your photo at a wine tasting party on Facebook? – Barbara Davis

1. Oh look! A giant stingray lying there in the sand. No, that's not a tattoo that reads 'Firestone.' That really is just an old tire. – Teresa Hanson

C. Anemone then recognized the efforts of the many Dippers who gave time and effort to benefit the Club during 2016. Each was rewarded with their choice of either a refrigerator magnet, a drink koozie, an apron, or a shopping bag, all with the Flipper Dippers' logo printed on them.

• For the monthly diver's I.Q. review in the newsletter: Larry Ankuda.

• For coordination of Beach Clean-Ups: Hunter Reid.

• For Coordination of Bonaire warm water dive trip: Barbara Davis.

• For local dive boat coordination: Brian Zaugg, Howard Timoney, Grace Chi.

• For coordinating the 'New and Improved' Annual Under Water Easter Egg Hunt: Jim Rezowalli.

• For having their picture in the newsletter most often: Barbara Davis (21), Tom Gardner (17), Grace Chi, Howard Timoney and Jackie Gardner (tied at 11).

• For leading the most scheduled club dives and activities: Brian Zaugg.

• For coordinating North Coast ab dive and campouts: Jerry Richards and Dennis Nasont.

• For the biggest bone-headed goof-up of 2016: The Special Award went to Jim Rezowalli for leaving the Club's check book at the post office, where it was found and that person was able to contact Barbara Davis by getting her phone number from a newsletter posted on the Club's Website!

Many Members in attendance were acknowledged for their continued membership in the Club for over 20 years and former Club presidents were asked to stand and received warm applause.

In recognition for their dedication to the Club in 2016, officers, Brian Zaugg, John Schwartz, Mike Chalup, Jim Rezowalli and Barbara Davis were each presented with a heavy-duty dive bag.

Barbara then concluded the evening by thanking the guest MC and everyone who has participated in the many Club activities and again encouraged members to get involved in their Club. Everyone who attended had a great time enjoying the food, entertainment and their fellow Flipper Dippers. 🌟

Famed Cement Boat takes another beating

The historic concrete ship S.S. Palo Alto, at Rio Del Mar in Aptos, Californian, was smashed in half by record California storm waves on January 21. Since 1930, the Palo Alto has been a symbol of Santa Cruz County, sitting at the end of a pier that juts from Monterey Bay's Seacliff Beach. During Saturday's storm, the waves reached a record height: 34 feet, according to a National Weather Service buoy in the bay, more than a foot taller than the previous record set in 2008. With the tall waves came destruction. The pounding surf snapped a section of the Palo Alto nearest to shore from the rest of the ship.

The boat had an unusual concrete hull, as well as an unusual origin story. As World War I progressed, and civilian and military vessels fell by the hundreds to German submarine torpedoes, ship builders worried about a shortage of steel. In 1917, the Emergency Fleet Corporation was formed under President Woodrow Wilson. The emergency fleet commissioned an order for 24 new ships built out of ferroconcrete. The material, concrete reinforced with steel, was cheaper to produce than steel and more readily available. It was also capable of producing boats that floated. In fact, the French inventor of ferroconcrete, Joseph-Louis Lambot, had created a concrete dinghy a half-century before; his small boat was displayed at the 1855 World's Fair.

The Emergency Fleet Corporation's choice for concrete ships was a move, as described in a 1918 issue of the trade journal Concrete, born out of emergency. The year before, a Norwegian engineer had built a 84-foot-long ship with a concrete hull. But larger tankers like the Palo Alto were yet untested.

"Good engineering judgment puts the concrete seagoing ship idea on a sound basis," noted the journal. "But it hasn't been proved — that's all."

The capabilities of U.S. concrete ships would remain unproven during the war. By the time builders completed all 420 feet of the S.S. Palo Alto, at the Naval Shipyard in Oakland, World War I was over.

The Palo Alto did not move from Oakland until 1929, according to the California Department of Parks and Recreation. On the ship's first voyage, it was towed to the Sea Cliff beach, where the Cal-Nevada Company scuttled the boat by opening the valves in its hull. It earned the nickname the Cement Boat and became a tourist destination.

In 1930, a pier was constructed to link the ship to the beach. The Cal-Nevada Company installed a heated pool — 54-feet long — as well as a casino and a dance floor. The party on board the S.S. Palo Alto lasted for two years, until its prospects were hit by the twin blows of a severe winter storm and the Great Depression. The state of California purchased the ship, and it became a popular fishing spot. The state closed off public access to the ship in 1950, after years of decay. Despite opening for a few years following a restoration attempt in the 1980s, the ship once again became off-limits. The fishing pier was open to foot traffic during summer 2016 but is now closed for repairs, according to the Parks and Recreation Department.

Despite the repeated pummeling, the Cement Boat remained a touchstone. "There are always people who come back here" after having moved away, John Hibble, director of the local Aptos History Museum, told the Santa Cruz Sentinel. "Their parents danced on the ship. Some people were little kids when they actually got to go out on the front part of the ship."

And yet life did not abandon the S.S. Palo Alto completely. Pelicans and other seabirds perched on the ship's deck, leaving behind streaks of white on the cracked concrete. In the water below, marine mammals like sea lions hunted sea perch and other fish. These fish, in turn, fed upon the algae and other organisms that grew in the shelter of the artificial reef.

The discovery of dead wildlife tarnished the Cement Boat's environmental legacy in the mid-2000s. Exposed to nearly a century's worth of the elements, the ship's tanks had cracked, leaking fuel oil, and the Palo Alto was deemed responsible for the dozens of dead birds that subsequently washed up on nearby beaches. In 2006, the California Department of Fish and Wildlife conducted a $1.7 million cleanup effort. Workers sucked half-a-thousand gallons of gunk from the ship's cracked tanks. Inside the ship, they found an additional 200 bird bodies and two dead harbor seals, reported the Monterey County Herald.

In the decade since the environmental cleanup, the ship had crumbled further. Winter 2016 storms shoved the ship to the starboard side, reported the Sentinel, and cracked open its rear half. This year's weather caused even more damage. "It's just an unusual January with this active weather," said National Weather Service forecaster Drew Peterson. "With the Cement Ship, we're starting to see the ramifications." ★

Dippers January S3 Dive on Beach Hopper II

Successful winter diving in Monterey has a lot to do with timing. With the plankton bloom at a minimum, great conditions and visibility can be had if your dive is scheduled between storms. For the January 14th S3 (Second Saturday SCUBA) dive we got the timing perfect; the day coincided with the lull between two stormy periods.

Our trip on the Beach Hopper II was attended by Barbara Davis, Howard Timoney, Grace Chi, Mike Chalup, Scott and Michelle Schimberg, and their son Evan. The first dive was at Eric's Pinnacle, with calm seas and 40-foot visibility. The second dive was at Aquarium Wall with similarly great conditions. Both spots were very 'fishy,' with most Dippers spotting a huge (for northern California) Sheepshead that kept circling around the anchor area.
